Collision With Truck Results In Death Of Local Young Man

Robert Lewis Mitchell, of Montevallo, died Monday afternoon at Hillman Hospital in Birmingham, as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident early Monday morning on the Birmingham-Montgomery highway.

Robert suffered a skull fracture when the car in which he was riding collided with a truck. He was taken to Hillman Hospital where he died that afternoon. The driver of the truck, Howard Leath, of Greensboro, Ky., suffered cuts on his face and neck.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon by Rev. Fred B. Pearson at the Montevallo Baptist Church. Burial was in Montevallo Cemetery with Rogan in charge. Pallbearers were Phillip Arnold, M. R. Tate, E. C. Simpson, John Stephens, Herbert Glasscock, and Thomas Winslett.

Robert had lived in Montevallo all his life, attending the Montevallo Elementary School and the High School. He was a member of the Montevallo Baptist Church. At the time of his death he was employed at Wooten Motor Company as a mechanic.

He is survived by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Mitchell; three brothers, Bernard, William, and Leroy Mitchell; and six sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Gewin, Mrs. Cooper Shaw, Misses Marguerite, Celeste, Billie Louise, and Eleanor Anne Mitchell.

Missionary Society Has Interesting Meeting

Circles 1 and 2 of the Methodist Missionary Society met together Monday afternoon in the apartment of Mrs. J. H. Henning, with Mrs. O. B. Cooper as co-hostess. Mrs. J. M. Shores led the program on "Widening Our National Outlook."

A short business meeting of both circles was conducted by Mrs. L. C. Parnell and Mrs. J. P. Kelly. The program opened with the singing of "More Love to Thee, O Christ." Mrs. W. C. Weems gave an article showing "Where God Dwells." She said, "God dwells among the lowliest of men. He sits on the dust heap among prison convicts. With the juvenile delinquents He stands at the door, begging bread. He throngs with the beggars at the place of alms. He is among the sick. He stands in line with the unemployed." She closed her talk by stating that he who forgets the unemployed forgets God.

Mrs. Ed Davis read the scripture lesson, Matthew 25: 31-40, which was followed by prayer led by Mrs. J. Alex Moore.

The group joined in singing "Close To Thee," after which Mrs. H. K. Barr gave the meditation. The Missionary topic, "Widening Our National Outlook," was given in two parts by Mrs. Kate Cook and Mrs. W. D. Jackson.

Mrs. Shores led the group in prayer which was followed by the members repeating the watchword.

A delightful social hour was enjoyed with the hostesses, during which time a refreshing ice cream course was served to the large group present.

Ten Shelby County Boys Win Pigs

Ten Shelby County boys received registered Poland-China gilts from Sears, Roebuck and Company in Birmingham on June 3. Boys from the seven counties in the Birmingham trade area received pigs.

In placing these pigs an essay contest was conducted in each county to determine the winners. The gilts will belong to the boy after he has turned 1 gilt pig back to Sears, Roebuck and Company for the contest in 1940. In this way there will be an endless chain.

Each boy will be required to show his animal at the State Fair in Birmingham on October 2. Each boy will receive baby chicks as a prize. The grand prize for the grand champion of the seven counties will be a registered Jersey heifer and a trip to the International Livestock Show in Chicago.

The winners from Shelby were: Frank Wyatt, Jr., Vincent; Billy Shaw, Wilsonville; W. N. Miner, Wilsonville; Clyde D. Hughes, Wilsonville; Carl G. Bailey, Siluria; J. A. Ingram, Columbiana; Robert Lockeridge, Calera; Parker Childress, Calera; Aldon Garrett, Calera; Leonard Wyatt, Jr., Vincent.

Members of the class are very grateful to Mrs. Crowe for this generous gift.

Tombigbee Route Given Right of Way

The controversy over the proposed Tennessee-Tombigbee Inland Waterway was simplified today when the special board of Army engineers eliminated the Warrior River route in a preliminary report, leaving the Tombigbee route, by way of Yellow Creek and Mackey's Creek without competition.

In a letter addressed to Representative Rankin of Mississippi, Speaker Bankhead of Alabama, Chairman Mansfield of the Rivers and Harbors Committee of the House, and Senator Bailey of North Carolina, Chairman of the Commerce Committee of the Senate, Major General J. L. Schley, Chief of Army Engineers, today said that the special board of officers making this survey "find that the construction of a waterway connecting the Tennessee and Tombigbee Rivers by way of the Warrior River through the city of Birmingham, or by way of Locust Fork, is not justified at this time because the annual benefits expected to accrue to the general public are not sufficient to offset the general carrying charges."

The report of the army engineers approving the Tennessee-Tombigbee waterway via Yellow Creek and Mackey's Creek and the Tombigbee River was made several weeks ago.

ROBERT LEWIS MITCHELL

On Monday afternoon, June 6, Montevallo lost one of its best known and most popular young men, Robert Lewis Mitchell.

To his family we wish to express this thought: Robert will forever remain in our minds and hearts as the boy who, with his captivating ways, won the hearts of his many friends.

THE NEW PHONES

Work is progressing rapidly on the new dial telephones. New poles and wires have been erected in many places.

The new phones have really proved something new not only in appearance, but in sound. We feel it is our duty to warn those who have not heard one of them ring not to be alarmed and call the police or fire department. It's only the telephone.

A COMPROMISE FOR 1940

It looks as though the state is in for a good, old-fashioned fight over the delegation to the 1940 convention. Frank Dixon and his boys want to send an uninstructed delegation so as to have a club for use in behalf of freight rate equality in the South. On the other hand, we are told that a bunch of boys centered around Bibb Graves, Lister Hill, and a few other leaders want to have the delegation pledged to Speaker Will Bankhead.

The result will probably be a mighty nasty family fight. We don't like family fights, so in this spirit of helpfulness, we suggest a compromise. We suggest that the Dixon boys give up their idea of an uninstructed delegation. We also suggest that the other crowd forget about stringing along with Bill Bankhead. We suggest that the two groups meet on common ground and, as a compromise, send a sort of semi-instructed delegation to the convention. This delegation would not be pledged to one man, so it would suit the Dixon crowd; it still would not be unpledged, so it would suit the Graves crowd. The way that we would effect such a compromise would be just to sort of pledge it to the Bankheads in general.

For instance, Bill might be the best chance, but if Bill turned out to be a failure, then the delegation could switch to John. If John didn't fire any enthusiasm, they could turn to Marie, or if the big money boys looked like they were going to have something to do with naming the candidate, Walter Will might be a good chance. Yet, all the time our delegates could be holding out their trump card as a last resort. Tullulah would be the trump. There are some army officers and other government officials belonging to the same tribe, and we apologize to them for not mentioning their names, but space just won't permit it. After all, you get the idea.—Tuscaloosa News.

Each laying hen on the farm should have 1 bushel of home grown corn. To have this corn it is necessary to side-dress and make a good yield per acre.

When He Grows up

SOME day this little fellow and others like him will compose the fourth generation to depend on the telephone in their daily activities. How much they will use the telephone is unpredictable, except that their demands will likely exceed today's.

And today's demands on the telephone system are large. The Southern Bell Company served 1,140,000 telephones in 1938, with 18,800 workers who received $26,600,000 in wages. It paid almost nine million dollars in taxes. Each day, an average of 9,582,798 local calls and 130,613 long distance calls were handled.

Telephone employees strive to give the kind of service their customers want. With this traditional spirit of service, backed by continuous scientific research, it is reasonable to expect that the Bell System will still provide the kind of telephone service this little fellow will want when he grows up.

Farm Rehabilitation Program Discussed By Superintendent

Careful planning, budgeting and record-keeping are fundamental factors in the rural rehabilitation program of the Farm Security Administration, according to James N. Dennis, FSA supervisor for Shelby County, who said needy farm families to be assisted this year with moderate loans and supervision will total about 135, as compared with 52 in 1938.

Farm and home plans as worked out with them by the rehabilitation supervisor and home management supervisor represent adaptation of sound general principles to the particular conditions faced by each family. When a family applies for aid, an analysis is made of its resources, along with a study to determine what is needed in the way of more or better land, improved farming practices, tools, livestock and other essentials of helping them become self-supporting and self-reliant.

Means of Meeting Needs

Means of meeting those needs to the best advantage are agreed upon and put into effect, generally providing, so far as possible, for a year's supply of vegetables, fruit, meat, poultry, milk, eggs, and other foodstuffs for the family and adequate pasture, forage, and grain for livestock, together with cash crops sufficient to meet operating expenses and repay the Farm Security Administration loan and other obligations.

Record books provided each of the low-income families offer an effective means of taking guesswork out of farming. Pages are designated for a detailed inventory of farm and household possessions at the start of the year, with space for listing money received and spent, as well as various other information concerning the operation of a farm on a business-like basis. At the end of the year, facts and figures set forth in these books provide a basis for revising plans for the new year.

Agreements Reached

Thirty-six hundred and ninety-seven families living on farms of Alabama totaling 346,845, acres, and their creditors had reached agreements up to March 1 on adjustment of obligations through efforts of the farm debt adjustment section of the FSA, according to James N. Dennis, who said farmers facing foreclosures or overburdened with debt could obtain information at his office in Columbiana.

"Any worthy, debt-distressed farmer, or the creditor of any farmer, is entitled to this service," he said. "The county farm debt adjustment committee, in cooperation

MACHINERY PRICES AT 30-YEAR HIGH

Auburn, Ala. — Prices of farm machinery in 1938 were close to the highest figures in nearly 30 years of government record. Prices declined somewhat from 1929 to 1933, but then rose sharply, and in 1938 prices of farm machinery other than motor vehicles were 58 per cent above the 1910-14 level. The peak for the 30-year period was in 1920, approximately 65 per cent above pre-war. Prices of motor vehicles — automobiles, trucks, and tractors — also rose rapidly from 1933 to 1938 after a small decline in the great depression.

Prices paid by farmers for mowers, hay racks, hay loaders, and some other farm machines are twice as high as they were from 1910-14. Prices of one-horse walking plows, corn and cotton planters, riding cultivators, and binders are almost twice as high as they were 25 to 30 years ago. Prices of small gas engines, cream separators, and grain threshers, on the other hand, have increased relatively little. Prices of automobiles and tractors are considerably lower than in pre-war days.

Before 1917, the price of motor vehicles seemed to be unrelated to the prices of other commodities generally. Available data indicate that prices of both automobiles and tractors declined about 40 per cent from 1910 to 1917, whereas commodity prices in general increased 67 per cent.

K. M. McEwen, Rockford, harvested 500 bushels of Winesap and Golden Delicious apples from his 40-acre tract last year, selling them for $1.75 per bushel. He expects to clear $1,000 this year. McEwen believes he has proven that apples can be grown in Alabama on a commercial scale.

FARM NOTES

By A. A. Lauderdale,
County Agent

Farmers with 10 or more cattle should have a trench silo. One acre of Texas seeded ribbon sorghum should make enough silage for 5 cows. It is still time to plant sorghum.

Corn should be side-dressed with 225 pounds of soda or nitrate of lime per acre. It will pay to side-dress cotton after the heavy rains and especially if the initial fertilizer was 3-3-5 or 4-8-4.

Chicken pox or sore-head in chickens can be prevented by vaccinating the pullets when 12 to 15 weeks old. The vaccination is inexpensive and assures the high priced fall eggs.

Pastures should be mowed to control weeds and give the grass a chance. The mowing should be done often enough to keep the weeds from making seed. Pasture is the cheapest feed on the farm.

Farmers should keep an accurate record showing the production of the various crops and livestock. Next year is census year and by keeping records you can give accurate information, but the main benefit is the record or a guide in future operations.

TWINS BORN IN ALABAMA TOTAL 908 IN 1937

Montgomery, Ala.—Three women became mothers of twins in Alabama in 1937 after previously having become the mothers of 15 other children each, while approximately one-fifth of all the twins born in the state during that year were the first children born to their mothers, according to a special study of plural births by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health.

The study showed that 320 of the 1,648 twins born in this state during that year were the first babies born to their mothers, 266 of the total were second-born, 214 third-born, 198 fourth-born, 160 fifth-born, 88 sixth-born, 102 seventh-born, 108 eighth-born, 66 ninth-born, 42 tenth-born, 34 eleventh-born, 18 twelfth-born, 14 thirteenth-born, 10 fourteenth-born, 2 fifteenth-born, and 6 sixteenth born. White twins born during the year totaled 908 and colored twins 740.

PHOSPHATE HELPFUL TO PASTURES

The application of phosphate to soil-improving crops, including permanent pasture, has proven of inestimable value to farmers in Hale County, reports J. A. Medlock, county agent. During the first four months of 1939, farmers in the county applied the equivalent of 1575 tons of 16 per cent superphosphate to the various conserving crops.

Approximately 90 percent of this fertilizer has been applied to permanent pastures with 455 farmers participating in this improvement program. Very encouraging results have been reported from application of phosphate on white Dutch clover, sweet clover, lespedeza, dallis grass, lappaca clover, hop clover, black medic, and other native grasses and legumes, says Mr. Medlock.

Control Moths To Save Clothes

Auburn, Ala. — Summer is just what you make it. Moths make it a holiday — unless you store away your winter woollens, says Catherine Haynes, extension specialist in clothing.

Before you store, have the garments dry-cleaned or washed. If your laundry and dry-cleaning budget is slim, the next best thing is to sun the garments thoroughly, brush and beat them on the clothesline.

Pack garments tightly. Leave no openings in packages, chests, or closets through which the moths can wriggle. Gummed tape does the best job. Garment bags are as useful as they are tight, but only for keeping moths out. Fancy treatments can make the bags smell queer, but won't kill the destructive moth larvae. Nor can ordinary "cedarized" cardboard chests or closets be depended upon to kill moths. Chests made of the heart of wood of Virginia cedar will protect clothing stored in them if they are properly used. Cedar-lined closets are not dependable.

Moth-killing chemicals recommended by department of agriculture experts are naphthalene, paradichlorobenzene, and gum camphor. But the most deadly moth poison won't work unless the fumes are strong enough to kill the intruders. A pound of any of these chemicals sprinkled in folds of tissue paper through the layers of clothing will protect a trunkful of clothes. For closets use a pound of the chemical for every 100 cubic feet of space.

Kerosene pyrethrum sprays, packaged in various forms, will work only if the spray actually hits the moth. Professional exterminators are usually successful and amateurs using ordinary hand spray guns can do a good job if they understand the necessity for thorough and repeated applications.

Mrs. Mack Vincent and Maxine were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stabler in Aliceville several days last week.

State of Alabama A PROCLAMATION By the GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama, at the Extra Session 1939, ordered an election to be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which said amendment is herein set out, and ordered that said election be held on the Second Tuesday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of the session of the Legislature at which said amendment was proposed; and

WHEREAS, the Second Tuesday after three months from and after the final adjournment of said Extra Session of the Legislature will be and occur on Tuesday, July 11, 1939; and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law and by the provisions of the Act submitting said Amendment, to be given by a proclamation of the Governor to be published in each County in the State of Alabama once a week for four successive weeks next preceding the said 11th day of July, 1939:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Frank M. Dixon, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday, the 11th day of July, 1939, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama, in the manner and form provided by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901, as follows:

"Section 190. The Legislature shall pass laws not inconsistent with this Constitution to regulate and govern elections and all such laws shall be uniform throughout the State except that the Legislature may, by general or local law, permit the use of voting machines or other mechanical devices, for registering, recording and computing the votes at all elections, including primary elections, in any county, municipality, or other political subdivision of the State, under such regulations provided by general law with reference thereto as the Legislature may from time to time prescribe; and shall provide by law for the manner of holding elections and of ascertaining the result of the same, and shall provide general registration laws not inconsistent with the provisions of this article for the registration of all qualified electors from and after the first day of January, nineteen hundred and three. The Legislature shall also make provision by law, not inconsistent with this article, for the regulation of primary elections and for punishing frauds at the same, but shall not make primary elections compulsory. The Legislature shall by law provide for purging the registration list of the names of those who die, become insane, or convicted of crime, or otherwise disqualified as electors under the provisions of this Constitution, and of any names which may have been fraudulently entered on such list by the registrars; provided, that a trial by jury may be had on the demand of any person whose name is proposed to be stricken from the list."

Gregory Gives Ways To Harvest Clover Seed

Auburn, Ala. — A great many farmers in Alabama who have crimson clover seed patches, or fields, are now almost ready to harvest them for the first time. There are many ways that have been used successfully to harvest these seed, says W. H. Gregory, associate extension agronomist of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

The fastest way and probably the most successful way is by the use of a combine harvester, where there is one in the community. These machines require a special screen for crimson clover seed. Since only a relatively few farmers in the state are located where there is a combine to harvest their crimson clover, other methods must be used.

Probably more crimson clover is saved in Alabama by the use of the ordinary mowing machine and rake than by any other method. The clover should be mown when almost ripe, or if mown when dead ripe, care should be taken that dew is on the clover when harvesting is done, to prevent the seed from shattering.

Another method is the use of an improvised horse-drawn stripper, mounted on a hay rake frame. Plans for building this stripper may be secured from the county agent.

Where a farmer has only a small patch of crimson clover to save for seed he can build a hand-stripper from plans which he can get from the county agent, which is fairly satisfactory for saving small areas of seed.

Gregory says it is very important that all available crimson clover seed be saved, since last fall was a bad season. The seed will probably be more scarce and higher in price than they have been in the past.

1939 AAA Peanut Pay Announced

Auburn, Ala.—Commercial peanut producers in Alabama, who have received allotments totaling 280,000 acres under the 1939 AAA Farm program, will have approximately 85 per cent of this acreage in compliance with the program, according to A. W. Jones, state administrative officer of the AAA.

Payments on peanuts in this state for participation in the 1939 program are expected to total about $260,000 and will be on approximately 238,000 acres.

Peanut acreage allotments are made only in counties designated as commercial peanut counties and only on farms producing peanuts for market.

The designated counties are as follows: Barbour, Bullock, Butler, Coffee, Conecuh, Covington, Dale, Escambia, Geneva, Henry, Houston, Lee, Monroe, Montgomery, Pike, and Russell.

Under the 1939 program, "peanuts for market" means only those peanuts separated from the vines by mechanical means and from which the principal part of the production is sold to persons off the farm. Acreage allotments are established for farms in the designated counties on which peanuts for market were produced in one or more of the years 1935-38, inclusive, and for "new" farms on which peanuts for market are being produced in 1939 for the first time since 1934.

The conservation payment on peanuts is 15 cents per 100 pounds on the normal yield of each acre in the peanut allotment of a farm. In case the peanut allotment is overplanted, deductions will be made at the rate of $1.25 per 100 pounds on the normal yield of each acre planted in excess of the allotment.

PARK FOLDERS READY

Illustrated scenic folders describing Alabama's State Park system are available, according to W. G. Lunsford, head of the parks division. Free copies of the folder may be obtained after that time by writing the Parks Division, Department of Conservation, Montgomery. Complete description and location of each of the parks now open, as well as cabin rental rates and other accommodations, are in the folder. Scenic views from all the parks and a large map showing highways leading to parks are also features of the new folder.

"You're too Modest"

PERHAPS the customer who tells us that we're too modest is right, but we have preferred to speak modestly of our accomplishments, and confine our statements to fact.

We cannot dip into the public treasury for a subsidy (inviting as that prospect might seem) to pay for losses resulting from extravagant promises and claims. We must stand on our own feet, paying our way as we go, contributing our full share toward the upkeep of local, state and federal governments. By doing so, we can feel that the praise which comes our way perhaps is earned, particularly when it comes in such sincerely written letters as those from which we are quoting a few paragraphs in this advertisement.

Tombigbee Route

and was approved by the General Board of Army Engineers, as well as by President Roosevelt, and the House Committee on Rivers and Harbors. It had already been approved by the National Rivers and Harbors Congress.

The project was stricken from the Rivers and Harbors bill in the House, some members voting against it because the Warrior River route was still under investigation.

"Not since the Warrior route has been completely eliminated, I feel more confident than ever that the project will be retained in the bill by both the Senate and the House," Mr. Rankin said. "It has already been restored to the bill by a unanimous vote of the Senate subcommittee, and the indications are that their action will be ratified by the full committee, and confirmed by both houses."

"This elimination of the Warrior route will enable the friends of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Inland Waterway to get together, and pull together, for one of the greatest inland waterway developments that has ever been before Congress."

"It is impossible to estimate the benefits it will bring to the people of both Mississippi and Alabama—as well as the entire country."

Mr. James Black of Birmingham was a visitor in town Saturday.

Farmers Plant Locust And Pine Trees

Auburn, Ala.—Farmers in the 15 Tennessee Valley counties in North Alabama are taking advantage of the opportunity of planting eroded and non-productive lands to forest tree seedlings, reports Rufus Page, forester of the Alabama Extension Service.

In 1937-38, 135,250 black locusts and pines were set on 113½ acres of privately owned lands in this area by the landowners. In 1938-39, the season just past, 547,350 seedlings were planted on 435½ acres of similar lands. One million trees have been allotted for this purpose in 1939-40.

Forest tree seedlings planted under cooperative agreement with the Tennessee Valley Authority serve two purposes, to produce timber products on lands now idle, and to check soil erosion.

Many farmers plant black locusts for fence post production. Pines, to succeed, need receive no attention other than adequate protection.

In order to secure planting stock, the farmer must make application to the county farm agent. This application is sent to the TVA sub-district forester who makes examination of the area, recommending preparation of land for planting where he deems this necessary. The application, upon approval, is filed and the trees delivered to the landowner, who plants this stock after receiving instructions from the forester.

Page said it is best to make application for these trees early in the summer in order that the desired number may be reserved for planting from December through March.

Mr. Guy Allred and Mr. Sam Johnson of Clanton were visitors in town Wednesday afternoon.

KEEPING FIT

Ann Rutherford discovers that fifteen minutes a day will help keep the figure slim and youthful. To make it seem like play, she uses a volley ball. With a quick movement brings ball down between legs, keeping legs straight without bending knees. The two movements bring into play chest, arm and back muscles, giving general toning up to entire body.

DIAL TELEPHONES ARE BEING INSTALLED

The Southern Bell Telephone Company is installing new telephone poles and cables, and also the new dial phones are being installed in homes and places of business in town. Present plans are for the new system to be in operation by July 25.

Soybeans For Oil Are Not A Good Crop

Auburn, Ala.—Contrary to rumors circulating over the state, there is little profit to be realized from growing soybeans for commercial oil production, believes J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist.

This is because soybean oil is a semi-drying oil, being in drying ability just between quick-drying oils like linseed, and non-drying oils like coconut and olive oils.

All of which means soybean oil is not as good as linseed for paints, where a quick-drying oil is necessary, nor as olive or coconut oil for soaps, where a non-drying oil is required. This leaves as its chief usage that of food purposes. And only oil of the highest quality is used in food.

The quality of the soybeans produced in Alabama is just as good as those produced anywhere else in the country, but the yield is only about 6 bushels an acre, while the yield in the corn belt is around 16 bushels an acre.

Mr. Lowery says Alabama farmers cannot profitably compete with a section of the country where the yield is approximately three times greater than theirs.

Another thing is that the price of soybeans is so low that it would not pay even if the yields were good. As an example, the average price of soybeans last year was around 75c a bushel. The average yield of 6 bushels an acre would have grossed the farmer $4.50 an acre. The corn belt farmer at 16 bushels an acre would have received $12.00 an acre.
